StockSpy [Updated-2022]

The financial market is a fickle source of income, as it can make you the wealthiest person alive, and bring you to bankruptcy within two days. This doesn't mean that stock exchange is akin to playing the lottery, as some patterns and tendencies can be observed, and that is precisely what StockSpy allows you to do. An app designed for those with economic expertise It would be a lie to say that this app is easy-to-use, or intuitive unless you are a person that has some form of training or degree in economics. From a visual point of view, everything is transparent, self-explanatory and intuitive, so you won't get tangled up with all the buttons, tabs and submenus, as long as you know what they all mean. StockSpy enables you to easily visualize and pinpoint important company events to make quicker and smarter investment decisions. Observe the evolution of the market in real time This app allows you to learn where exactly stock comes from, how it changes hands (figuratively speaking) and how you can predict if it evolves or not over time. You will learn where a stock came from, where it's going and why all in a crystal clear manner! It gives you the edge, whether you are an individual investor or professional trader. More so, the charts themselves are flexible, allowing you to observe changes from a daily, up to a monthly basis, and together with the news, you can piece together what events are beneficial to your stock's value. A great tool for any would-be stock exchanger StockSpy brings pretty much every tool you need to observe the evolution of a second stock, allowing you to make better investments which will lead to profits. For these reasons alone, StockSpy deserves a place in any economist's digital library. This app is designed for users of any experience level, and for any type of traders. StockSpy was designed to offer a highly advanced user interface, with features you don't find on any other app. Here's what the app does: 1. StockSpy has a highly intuitive user interface. 2. StockSpy has real time price data for both the benchmark (S&P 500 index) and the company being analyzed. 3. StockSpy has an advanced news system, which can be filtered based on whether the information is breaking news, only for the company being analyzed, or for the stock market in general.
